DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1, line 8, "a book" is not clear with regards to "a book" from line 2.

Claim 1, lines 8-9, "the person selecting a book from said book list and in response to a request from the person, displaying" is not clear.

Claim 1, lines 12-13, "when the person wants to buy . . . from the person who want to buy" is not clear as to whether it is the same person.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. Claim 1, as understood, is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bookbrowse.com in view of Garrido and Kitamura, US 6,829,594.

Applicant is directed towards the April 20, 2006 Final Office Action for the body of the rejection. Applicant's September 25, 2006 REMARKS have been reviewed, but are not convincing. It is noted that intended use claim language, e.g. "for printing," is given little, if any, patentable subject matter in juxtaposition to positively recited claim language, e.g. displaying a list of books in a book recommendation home page. It is also noted that the limitations from line 11+ need not occur. These limitations need not be addressed to meet the positively recited claim language. Thus, Applicant's REMARKS are not on point with regards to what is positively recited and must be disclosed by the above combination of references. The above combination of references are deemed to contain these positive recitations.

4. Further pertinent references of interest are noted, e.g. 5,465,213; 6,195,667; 6,704,733, teach applicant's positively recited claim language.

5. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Andrew Joseph Rudy whose telephone number is 571-272-6789. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday thru Friday.
